Arriving in Bonaire

We dedicated our attention to Carnival on the Dutch island.

But you can also celebrate some fantastic Carnival parades and parties in:

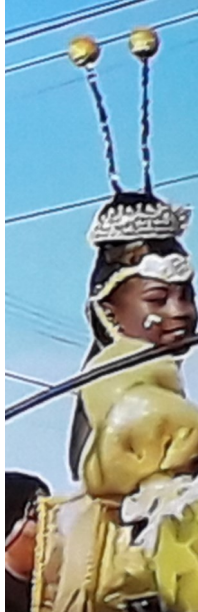

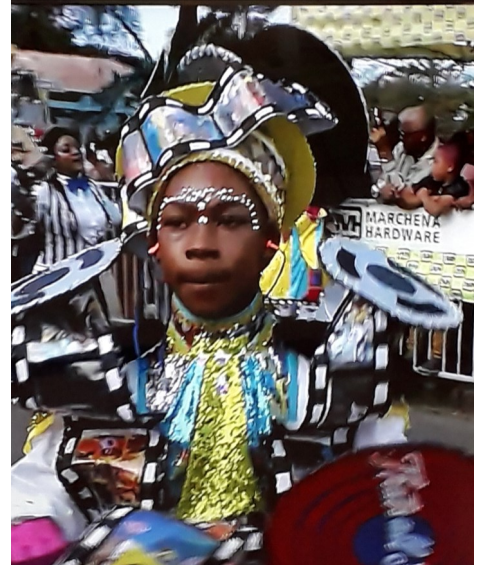

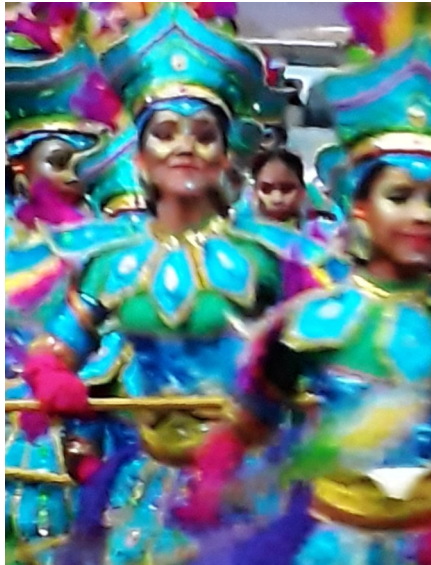

- * New Orleans - USA: Mardi Gras
- * Venice - Italy: Carnival
- * Tenerife - Canary Islands; Fiestas
- * Cologne - Germany: Fifth Season
- * Rio de Janeiro - Brazil: Carnaval

So party away as Lent (period for fasting, abstinence, and penitence) is just some days away.

Children parade 24 February 2019 in Curacao

Carnival - Instead of silver and gold > GO GREEN!

PLASTIC
FREE
CURAÇAO

It is Carnival, the biggest party of the year on Curaçao. No less than 5 parades with thousands of people walking, dancing and jumping in the streets of Willemstad, while many more people are watching the parades as they are passing by.

The costumes, the make-up, the music trucks, the tribunes, the public... everybody and everything is decorated with loads of shiny glitter! So far the fun news....

The sad news is that all those tonnes and tonnes of glitter go into the gutter, it ends up in our oceans, our fish eat it, we eat the fish and we drink the water. We MUST be responsible and make really urgent changes!

Plastic Free Curacao

Glitter is a micro-plastic, which causes harm to marine life that mistake it for food. As a result, humans can ingest the micro-plastics via seafood and even tap water. Balloons also cause major problems, with the attached strings strangling birds, while other animals and sea life often mistake the shape of a burst balloon for jellyfish.

All those happy people drink lots of water or lemonade to keep hydrated, and alcohol to add to the fun, mostly from single use plastic bottles and plastic cups. And they bring along delicious food to be eaten from disposable plates with single use plastic cutlery, which stay on our globe forever ever. The convenience of many people leads to pollution of the earth and oceans and kills the animals.
