Lekker Oranje !

Zoete aardappels, wortelen, oranje paprika en oranje meloenen, wat hebben ze gemeen? Je denkt waarschijnlijk als eerste aan kleur: oranje!

En je hebt gelijk! De kleur van deze groenten en vruchten komt door carotenoiden. Dit zijn een grote groep kleurstoffen waaronder zeer gezonde voor de mens. Wist je dat wortels goed zijn voor je ogen is? Dat klopt, want in wortels zit vitamine A.

Vitamine A heet ook wel beta-caroteen, en dat is een.... Je raadt het al, een carotenoide! En dankzij vitamine A kunnen je ogen beter zien.. Goed oranje groenten en vruchten eten dus!

Vitamine A zit ook in veel andere groenten en vruchten, zoals gele en rode paprika. Oranje is immerse en combinatie van geel en rood!

Je zou het niet verwachten, maar in groene bladgroenten zit ook veel vitamine A. Kijk maar eens in de herfst en in de droge tijd op Curacao, wanneer de bladeren hun bladgroen verliezen. Dan worden ze vaak geel, rood en oranje: een feest voor het oog. En dat dus allemaal door carotenoiden zoals vitamine A!

Face mask - Made in Curacao

Drone Racing Curacao and Curacao Tech Meetups launched a local initiative to 3D print Splash screens which we will donate to health care workers in Curacao. This idea is inspired by the Czech Prusa Research which have made a step by step guide and all 3D files available for download.

We, in collaboration with partners, are ready to run our 3D Printers round the clock to produce Face Shields for donation to our local Health Care Workers during this Covid-19 Pandemic.

The first prototypes are ready and have been submitted to the G&Gz for the quality control stage of the project. Once approved they will be field tested by front-line health workers and the design adjusted if needed.

We have received many positive feedback from organizations willing to join forces and supply materials and manpower such as Mensing's, Green Phenix & BA3d, Makeit3d, University of Curacao and JCI IOBA Curacao.

Delicious and nutritious: the “batata dushi” takes off in home gardens of Curacao

Since the quarantine, more Yu di Korsou are learning the joys of growing food at home. A staple crop that has gained fame is the sweet potato. Thanks to the facebook “Dushi Challenge” this versatile and highly nutritious root vegetable has spread to hundreds of home gardens island-wide. But how can we process the sweet potatoes once we’ve harvested them?

Fortunately, sweet potatoes are not just the richest staple food in vitamin A, (richer even than carrots, cantaloupes, or even leafy greens) ... they are also highly versatile in the kitchen. Read on to discover how sweet potato can substitute roots like potatoes and carrots, or made into soups like pumpkin and other squashes.

One of the most popular snack foods in the world are french fries. Make them with sweet potato for a large dose of nutrition.

Roots and squashes like pumpkin are common in soups. Make it a sweet potato one.

Baked potato is a common side dish.
Roast or bake a sweet potato in your oven instead and enjoy the difference.

Stir fried sweet potatoes leaves are less well know.
It is a very nice addition to your meals.
Nutrient and making full use of the plant.

Sweet potatoes are stars in baked goods as well. Exchange the fruit for sweet potato in your pie.
This is a traditional holiday dish from the USA.

It can work in a salad...

... or pan-fried instead of deep-fried to avoid too much oiliness.

KIDS CORNER

MINGO & MOLLY

Bob the Flamingo

Rode flamingos komen ook op Curacao voor.

Heb je wel eens een flamingo willen ontmoeten? Dan is dit je kans. Dit is Bob.

Bob is een rode flamingo. Rode flamingos leven op Curacao in het wild. Je kan ze zien bij Willibrordus. Misschien ben je wel eens gaan kijken? Je kan ze daar zien lopen met hun lange poten in de modder.

Flamigo Bob.

Ze zoeken daar met hun grote snavels naar garnaaltjes, kleine visjes en rood zeewier. Van dit eten krijgen ze de rode kleur. In het eten zitten namelijk carotenoïden. Dit stoffen die de oranje kleur aan wortels geven. Carotenoïden zijn ook heel gezond voor jou, dus neem een voorbeeld aan de flamingos en neem wat extra wortels op je bord!

In wortels zitten ook carotenoiden. Van deze stoffen krijgt de rode flamingo zijn kleur.

Bob is dus ook een flamingo. Bob was een tijdje terug ziek en moest naar de dokter. Hij kwam toen bij de dierenarts en sindsdien woont Bob gezellig tussen de mensen. Regelmatig komt Bob met zijn mensen naar buiten en op bezoek bij scholen. Als je wil weten waar je Bob kan zien, laat je ouders dan bellen naar Fundashon Dier en Onderwijs Cariben.

Naast rode flamingos bestaan er nog meerdere soorten, zoals de Andes flamingo in Zuid Amerika en de gewone flamingo in Afrika en Europa. Deze flamingos hebben niet de dieprode kleur zoals in het Caribisch gebied omdat er minder zeewier met carotenoiden in hun voedsel zit.

Easy ways to go plastic free (part III)

Rethink, refuse, reduce, reuse, repair, and recycle

Sometimes it's just impossible to avoid plastic, as alternatives are not always available. It's important not to lose hope or give up, but do the next best thing. The six Rs are a helpful guide to maintaining a sustainable lifestyle.

Rethink

Stop and think about what you are buying and using. Taking the time to rethink our consumption or purchases gives us the opportunity to adjust our behavior and decrease the amount of waste we create. Consider what can be done differently to reduce our environmental impact.

Refuse

You can refuse to use, buy, or accept products that aren't recyclable, necessary or sustainable. You are the customer, and you decide on the demand.

 Refuse this

Some places automatically insert straws in your drink even if you don't ask. Tell your waiter when ordering you don't want a straw.

 Ask for this

Stainless steel, paper, bamboo, pasta straws, and even lips are better alternatives to plastic straws.

Reduce

Traditionally, reduce was the first R. Now with Rethink and Refuse we have already made progress to reducing our waste. When considering a new purchase, ask yourself – “Do I really need this?” Make decisions that decrease the amount of waste produced. Shop at farmers markets and second-hand stores where you can purchase items with little or no packaging. Buy in bulk and avoid single-serving sizes.

Reuse

Can a product be used again? Can we find a different use for it? Reusable grocery bags and travel mugs are a great example of reuse in action. Reuse extends the life of these items and eliminates the need for single use bags and cups. For future purchases look to swap out single use items for reusable such as cloth napkins and reusable water bottles.

Items such as clothing or furniture that we no longer have a use for can be donated to thrift stores, non-profit organizations, local shelters and community programs.

Repair

When an item breaks down or no longer functions properly, fix it. When considering a new purchase ask yourself – “can this product be easily repaired? Are there components that can be replaced rather than having to recycle or dispose of the entire product?” This speaks to the sustainability of a product and how often we may need to replace it.

Recycle

Over the years, recycling is becoming more popular in Curaçao. But recycling should always be your last resort, remember the goal is NOT using plastic at all.

Along with the growing list of materials being recycled, new recycling startups are also popping up.

There are many items that can be recycled – cardboard, paper, and plastic containers, car batteries, and beverage containers just to name a few.

The best way to recycle is to be informed about what goes where. For more information on recycling options go to Curacao Nature Conservation’s recycling guide.

<https://www.curacaonature.org/recycle/>

Rethink, refuse, reduce, reuse, repair and recycle. Not as catchy as “reduce, reuse and recycle” but it gives us more options to limit our waste production. Look to incorporate the 6Rs into your daily life today.

Vivian's Art

My name is Vivian Capricorne. I began working with calabash about 4 years ago. I remember getting a big calabash from a friend of mine. My first thought was "What can I do with this big calabash?". Never expected it to turn into my big passion.

I began drawing different patterns on the calabash and fell literally in love with it. I use different kind of materials on my calabashes and I also try to make different things like wind chimes, birdhouses and many more as far as my imagination goes.
